P. O'CONNOR.

Corner of Summer and Union Sts. Sept.13-31, and has deposited to

We had the pleasure of meeting our old friend Hanns in this city yesterday, one of the gentlemanly proprietors of that popular Louisville house, the United States Hotel. If any of our friends want to be well taken care of, let them call on Hall & Hannis, when they get to the Falls City.

THEATHE -- We notice that to-night is set apart for a honolit to Mr. CLAUDE headquarters, being more than sufficient HAMILTON. If the old adage is true that to fill the ambulances provided. Many "good wine needs no bush," then it is a self-evident fact that Mr. HANDATON needs so commendation from us to acquaint the cablic with his merit. That he is an industrious and pains-taking artists, every one who has visited the theatre this season is perfectly aware. We trust that to-night he will be greeted with a full house. The bill offered is one of the most attractive of the season. We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column for particulars.

We would like to communicate some military information to our readers, could we do so without detriment to the public service. We will content ourselves with stating that there is a vast force of Federal troops in Kentucky. Besides Gen. Busin's force, and over forty thousand new levies, a large and well drilled army will soon be there. We feel confident that all will be well.

We learn from the Cincinsati Commer cial that an order was issued by Col. J. V. GUTHER, on Monday, directing the arrest of the she rebels in Covington and vicinity, who have let no opportunity pass to insult Federal soldiers going on to their premises for the purpose of procuring water. Men, who may offend in like manner, will also be arrested and confined in the county jail. A building has been selected in which the women will he placed for safe-keeping.

Skirmish at Tyree Springs

From several passengers, who arrived from Tyree Springs yesterday, we learn that a party of about seventy-five Federal infantry, with three pieces of cannon, were fired upon yesterday, from a thick wood, ne ar Tyrce Springs, by a large body of rebels, with muskets and artillery. The firing was returned briskly, and the rebels soon retreated. On our side, a Quartermaster, a Lieutenant, and a private were wounded, two of them severely. One Confederate was killed, another severely wounded, at least; but as the assailing party was sheltered by a thick undergrowth, it was impossible to ascertain the whole extent of their loss. Our artillery shelled the woods thoroughly. Our informant thought that they were Michigan troops.

[For the Daily Union.] A Vallandighammer Caged.

We have many convenient Union men about here, Mr. Editor, as you and your readers are aware. The Federals don't hurt them; the Confederates don't hurt them. The Confederates sometimes quarrel with them, or seem to quarrel, it is true; but the quarrels are gotten ap for offeet, that the Vallandighammers may pass currently with Union men .-With the unsophisticated Secesh, many of these convenient men are held as "enenemies of the South," and I have known them to be endangered by misapprehension of this sort. The rebel leaders, however, are posted, and know these protean fellows to be their best friends, because they are useful.

A bird of the Vallandighammer tribe has just been caught and eaged, as I learn. His name is D. W. KNIGHT, and he has been for some days pretending to be a refugee from his home, near Hickman's Ferry. Mr. K. has been very husy about the State Capitol and other Union headquarters in this city for more than a week, claiming protection. But some who know a thing or two, and don't forget what the know, observed that when the pretended fugitive disappeared for a short time, he ever returned uninjured by the terrible guerrillas in pursuit of him. During the summer of '61, the same gentleman had many battles with the Nashville Vigilance Committee, in which the casualties invariably footed up, killed, 000; wounded, 000; missing, 000; prisoners, 000, After several sham campaigns, in which "They it and sit

And conged and his

I believe Mr. KNIMIT took a Southern oath, under a flag of truce. Yesterday, suspicion led to on arrest of the enterprising gentleman. Arrest was followed by search. Search produced from his packets certain correspondence forces. with Vallandighamers in the North, showing the part Mr. Knour has been assigned by a few some over rebel leaders headquarters were between the Warrenin the North. Views on the Battle-field:

A volunteer nurse from Washington, who spent Friday and Saturday on the battle-field beyond Bull Run, has furnished the National Intelligencer the following experience :

I left Washington Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, in company with a large passenger train of volunteer physicians and nurses. At Alexandria the doctors were requested to remain. I think the greater proportion of the civilians in the train also went no further. A number, however, proceeded on the train of box and platform cars. The greater part of these left at Fairfax Station, and probably returned by the next train to Wash-We left the train at Bull Run Bridge, and went on foot through Union Mills Station to Centreville, arriving there at 10 o'clock at night on Sunday.

I accompanied an ambulance train of about fifty ambulances from Centreville to the battle-ground, under a flag of truce, arriving at the latter point about 12 o'clock on Monday morning. Went to command of Gen. Grant. They crowled work, under direction of Medical Direction to the north side of the Cumberland river tor McFarland, to bring in the wounded | and come upon the rebels at Providence, from the field. Some sixty volunteer civilians were thus engaged. We brought in about three hundred to the surgeon's wounded were also carried on stretchers from the woods and fields to points on the roadside where the ambulances might conveniently reach them The ambulances and several baggage wagons were filled on Monday evening with the wounded who had received surgical attention, numbering about two hundred and fifty-leaving about fifty at the surgeons' temporary headquarters on the field unprovided for. The number of wounded scattered over the field to whom no succor has been extended, were estimated by a surgeon who left on Wednesday morning, at two thousand— the fight. The robels made no attempt probably too high; a thousand would to defend the town, but passed through probably be nearer the number.

After much delay, in taking the parole of the wounded in the train, and of sixty or severty wounded who were able to walk, the train proceeded to Centreville. there stopped by the rebel officers in ed the Union residents with great eruol-tom. Stonewall Jackson's headquarters, about five or six miles distant. about five or six miles distant, where we arrived at 8 o'clock P. M. After some two hours' delay, the party in charge of the train received from Gen. Jackson a pass through the Confederate lines, and we wended our way slowly hack to Centreville, over a rough dark road, at great expense of suffering to the wounded, reaching there about 12 o'clock at night. There we camped, and distributed some soup, coffee, and brandy to the wounded. These supplies we received from the rebels, who had captured (as we were informed by one of our surgeons, who had remained at Centrevills, in charge of the wounded there) forty-one wagon loads of our hospital supplies. As Tuesday night was cold, we borrowed one hondred and sixty blankets of the rebels (being hospital blankets of the captured stock), to make the wounded as comfortable as possible. On Wednesday morning at sourise the train started for Washington, under the escort of rebel officers, coming by the way of Fairfax Courthonse and Falls Church, and proceeded to Alexandria in

INCIDENTS AND APPEARANCE OF THE BAT-

TLE-FIELD. Our own dead, with the exception of a few, were lying unbaried up to Tuesday morning. The bodies of the dead and a large share of the wounded were stripped of their shoes, hats or caps, and all their son had dealt severely with the marauders whenever caught. We saw not a single dead rebel, and but very tew wounded. The dead, it would seem, were carried from the field for the most part, and secretly buried. Our wounded state that on Sunday, when a great many of the rebels were visiting the battlefield, they were kindly furnished with water and hiscuits.

On Tuesday sixty-one citizens of Washington-a portion of the volunteer nurse corps-passed us at the battlefield on their way to General Lee's headquarters, in charge of a rebel guard,— They had straggled through the enemy's lines without the protection of a flag of truce, and had been taken prisoners. I presume they were paroled, but it is possible that they have been sent to Rich-trains of Confederate army wagons, moving northwardly towards the Bull Run mountains. Also, several batteries of artillery moving in the same direction. From this we inferred that a movement was making towards the Upper Potomac, and from conversations with divers rebel sparties, I think that Hill's and Longstreets and Ewell's forces-Ewel himself was wounded-have gone in that direction, and that it is the intention of the rebels simply to menace Washington, while the true point aimed at is by the way of Leesburg into Maryland. I judge so, because they talked confidently of attacking Washington, which I inferred was to mislead us. These accounts and statements were, however, from subordinate officers and privates. The Rev. Dr. Burrows, of Richmond, who is a chaplain in the rebel army, informed us that 48,-

We heard of three negro ambulance drivers who were spirited away by the rebels while we were on the battle-field, and that nine of our party had been taken prisoners white wandering over a portion of the field distant from the Surgeon's quarters.

Only a pertion of the battle-field of Friday and Saturday is that of the 21st July, 1861-the greater part of it being were beconacked under the trees, being without tents. Some of the soldiers told us that Gen. Lee's headquarters were about a mile distant. We saw Jackson, who was dressed very little different from a private. He has no extensive stall, but has couriers taken from the ranks, as we onversed with one of them, who was intelligent and communicative. We saw Gen. Fitzhugh Lee on Wed-nesday at Fairfax C. H., where a large body of Stuart's cavalry are stationed. The last rebel videttes were stationed about three miles beyond Fall's Church. One of them told me he had a New York Herald of the day before, and to remove a doubt expressed he showed it to me. A rebel lientenant told us that they had shot a courier bearing despatches from General Halleck to Gen. Pope, and were therefore advised of the calling in

of our forces to Washington.

BREAFTERN OF CLARKSVILLE-We are gratified to learn that Clarksville has been recaptured by a delachment of Federal troops sent out from Fort Donelson by command of Gen. Grant. They crossed some two or three miles west of Clarksville, where they were lodged in rifle pits, from whence they were soon shelled. They then took refuge in a stable and subsequently in a brick house, but were driven from both and across Red River The rebels, under Lieutenant-Colone Woodward, then retreated through the town and took the road towards Eussell-ville, but afterwards branched off towards Christian county. The Federal officer in ing a surrender, upon which the citizens laid down their arms and returned to their ordinary avocations. The messen-ger who was dispatched to Lieutenant-Colonel Bristow, of the Eighth Kentucky Cavalry, at Russellville, was intercepted so that we have no minute particulars of the fight. The rebels made no attempt it in their route very harriedly. The citizens who were found in arms, but laid them down upon the summons to surren-der, are doubtless those who so willingly ty. If our surmise is correct, we trust that proper retribution will be visited upon them, and that the wrongs of loyal inhabitants will be amply avenged-Lea

The following is one of the emancipation passes issued by Gen. Courts to a colored family who had been persecuted by the rebels and forced to do service in the rebel cause :

When our informants left there was heavy musketry and cannonading. Reinforcements have been sent from here, but the bridge will probably be destroyed before their arrival. No telegraphic communication now exists with any point south of Louisville.

Mom. Bio Gons .- The Fort Pitt Works are turning out the immense fifteen inch guns now at the rate of three a week These guns weigh each in the rough 70,000 pounds, and apart from the difficulty of casting, the labor of handling, turning and finishing such a mass of metal must be immense. There are four of these guns now in the lathes, and by the time these are out others will be ready to take their places. It is the intention to turn out three a week, we be lieve, for the balance of the year. guns are intended for the new "Monitor," and are the most formidable of their character in the world. Arrangements are now in progress for casting a twenty inch gun. This latter gun will throw a ball of one thousand pounds, and is expected to have a range of four

THE CROPS IN ENGLAND. - The Weather has been very wet for some days in the southern and midland counties in Sugland, materially interfering with harvest operations; but in the north it had been dry and warm and very favorable for the crops. The Mark Lane Express admits that the more that is known of the wheat crop the less satisfactory does it appear. The Agricultural Gazette gives a large number of special reports, and comes to the conusion that, the whest crop is the worst for several years; that barley is barely arr average; that nate are a fair average, and that beans, and peas are generally

We noticed that a large number of horses in rebel hands, and also many baggage wagons, were marked "U. S."

We heard of these way from Single, McDowell, The Villablest of Single, while were Store and McDowell, reported some days ago. The aubstance of it is, that Sirel, while that Sigel, while engaging the enemy observed McDowell waving a handker-chief to the robots. He immediately rode up and demanded an explanation. The reply being very insulting, Sigel resented it with a pistol shot, the ball striking McDowell's scabbard.

This statement purports to come from an eye-witness of the occurrence. The Volksbistt also states that Sigel, disgusted with the corruption and inefficiency of the military commanders in the East, will resign if not relieved from service in that quarter. Cin, Guartie.
